

Motherhood

A Mother's Heart for Her Children

Sally Clarkson

Have your ideals given your reality a sense of failure or disappointment? Ask God to show you what HIS plan is for your reality with your children. Ask Him for strength to love the children He has placed in your life.

Do you require honor for your children so that they may honor God or so that you may exercise harsh authority over them? Are you honoring and obeying the Lord as an example?

Evaluate your goals for your children's education. Have you chased after someone else's plans? Pray that the Lord will reveal what to focus on with your particular child.

In what areas of service are your children participating? Ponder what you can do as a family to serve someone around you.

How can you avoid overcommitment in your family?