

Motherhood Summer - A Season of Response

Sally Clarkson

Summer is a season of response; a time of planting and growth. Ponder what season of life and parenting you are in. Where are opportunities for you to plant, to invest in your children and your family that will yield fruit in future years and future generations?

Read these verses about seasons and planting. Allow the Lord to speak gently into your heart. Psalm 103: 19-23; Prov. 14:1; Luke 14: 28-30; Prov. 8; Psalm 128; Prov. 24: 3-4; 2 Tim. 3: 14-17

In light of the scriptures above, what do your children need to KNOW, BE, and DO? What are you putting in the treasure chests of your children's souls? The most important thing is that children learn to be like Christ. Where can you provide opportunities for your children to serve, live generously, cultivate habits of prayer, and accompany you as your family loves those around you?

Culture is not neutral. -Sally

Pray and ask the Lord to give you words of life to impart to your children during this and every season.
