

"There is something delicious about writing the first words of a story. You never quite know where they'll take you."

Beatrix Potter

